HUNTING INFORMATION and EQUIPMENT LIST:

The spectacular 1.5 million acre Bob Marshall Wilderness is renowned for its Big Game hunting opportunities. Out of the Cabin Creek camp, you will be hunting in mountainous terrain that ranges from 5000 feet in elevation to about 8600 in elevation. We try to ride horses to gain most/all of the elevation, but hiking is usually a necessary part of the hunt. Good quality boots that work for both riding and hiking are the best. GoreTex or a similar waterproof liner is very valuable. Wool or microfiber with a waterproof liner makes for a great hunting pant and/or jacket. Layering is helpful as it may be warm, chilly or very cold in the morning and change temperatures throughout the day. Layering allows you to adjust your activity level to the current weather situation. If you prefer a more leisurely, relaxed hunt, we can accommodate that as well.

Most any high powered big game rifle, with a scope of at least 4 power or adjustable 3X9 works very well. Calibers of .270, .30-06, 7mm, .300 and .338 are preferred. Most shots are from 30 yards to just less than 250 yards with an occasional shot out to 300 yards. We prefer not to shoot beyond that range. Practice and sight-in before you arrive.

Please print and use as a check list to make sure nothing you need is forgotten:
